

AALE Board of Trustees panel:
“Liberal Education Under Siege”

The Academy’s Board of Trustees presented a panel entitled “Liberal Education Under Siege: An AALE Perspective” at the annual conference of ACTC-Association for Core Texts and Curriculum held at the Omni Hotel in New Haven, CT April 14-17, 2011. The conference, The Quest for Excellence: Liberal Arts and Core Texts was sponsored by Yale University and co-sponsored by Augustana College, Boston College, and The College of the Holy Cross. The Academy’s panel was chaired by acting AALE President, Charles Butterworth and included the following papers by AALE Board members: “Why Liberal Education is Critical to the Rule of Law”, Rodney Smith (Chair, AALE Board of Trustees); “The Changing Role of Accreditation and the Changes proposed by USDE, Benefit or Menace?”, Diane Auer Jones (Member, AALE Board of Trustees); “General Culture and the Academy versus Liberal Education: What’s at Stake?”, Dominic Aquila (Chair, AALE Council of Scholars).

For further information on the papers presented contact: Prof. Charles Butterworth, cbutterworth@aale.org